

Dear Valued Aveanna Customer,

On December 30, 2023, Reckitt/Mead Johnson Nutrition (MJN) voluntarily recalled select batches of Nutramigen Powder in 12.6 and 19.8 oz cans from the U.S. market due to a potential contamination with the Cronobacter sakazakii bacteria in product samples originating from outside of the United States. For your reference, a copy of the manufacturer notice is attached to this letter.

The impacted Nutramigen product samples were manufactured in June 2023 and distributed primarily in June, July, and August 2023. Based on the limited availability of the product samples, it is believed that much, if not all, have already been consumed. There are also no reports of illnesses or adverse events to date.

MJN reported that all non-sample products have tested negative for the identified bacteria.

MJN also does not expect this voluntary recall to have any additional impact on supply as all Nutramigen products will continue to be produced at full capacity.

The batches in question can be identified by the batch code on the bottom of the can. Please see full list below.
